

New laser procedure takes care of floaters

Inside / Lifestyles

An easy chicken dish for date night

Page 1B / Food & Home

Gov. Scott Walker to speak at New Hampshire GOP event in March

Page 3A

WWW.JOURNALTIMES.COM

FRIDAY, JANUARY 23, 2015

HOME DELIVERY: 262-634-3333

$1.00

WATERCOLOR WISCONSIN

SCOTT ANDERSON, scott.anderson@journaltimes.com

Carolyn Grenyo, 71, and her husband Steve, 70, of Mount Pleasant, look at "Bog," a 2014 Watercolor by Joel Jaacks, on Thursday at the RAM Museum of Fine Arts, 2519 Northwestern Ave. during Watercolor Wisconsin. The exhibit began Dec. 14, and runs through April 25.

Dover man whose throat cut released from hospital

AARON KNAPP
aaron.knapp@journaltimes.com

DOVER — A Dover man whose throat was slashed in a home invasion last weekend has been released from hospital care, according to Racine County Sheriff Christopher Schmaling.

Calling the victim a "very fortunate and lucky individual," Schmaling stated in a text message that the very serious cut came dangerously close to the man's carotid artery, but medical staff

AT A GLANCE
A Dover man has been released from the hospital after his throat was cut by a home invader Saturday.

complaint. In the ensuing scuffle, Kaehne allegedly inflicted a cut on the other man's throat, curving from the ear to within a quarter of an inch of the Adam's apple.

Fleeing the scene, Kaehne reportedly dropped his knife, a pair