Walnut chairs made by Robert "Andrew" Black are part of the "Urban Wood Encounter 2015: RAM Explores Contemporary Furniture" exhibit on display through Jan. 3 at the Racine Art Museum, 441 Main St. This show emphasizes creative uses for urban wood, which is rescued from trees that are not harvested for their timber value, and might usually find their way into landfills when they succumb to age, injury or disease. A collection of a wide range of furniture and objects, this exhibition reflects regional artists applying their individual styles and personal interests to this often-discarded wood. The Racine Art Museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Admission is $5, or $3 for seniors and students. There is no charge for children 11 and younger.
