

In photos and video: PEEPEL explore the Racine Art Museum's Peeps Art Exhibition

Rachel Kubik Apr 7, 2023 0

People from all over visited the Racine Art Museum on Friday, as the RAM is free on the first Friday of each month. An especially large crowd showed for the 14th Annual International Peeps Art Exhibition, a showcase of 142 pieces made from or inspired by the colorful marshmallow Peeps candy, created by 200 artists from around the country.

The exhibition continues through April 15.

John Shattuck and Heather Dryfka

John Shattuck and Heather Dryfka of Oak Creek look on at the 14th Annual International Peeps Art Exhibition at the Racine Art Museum, 441 Main St., Racine, Friday.
Rachel Kubik

Bonnie Hansen

Bonnie Hansen of Oconomowoc looks on at the 14th Annual International Peeps Art Exhibition at the Racine Art Museum, 441 Main St., Racine, Friday.
Rachel Kubik

McIntosh and Buehmann families

From left, Mount Pleasant residents Emily McIntosh, Andrea McIntosh, Olivia McIntosh, Courtnee Buehmann and Michael Buehmann (in the baby carrier) look on at the 14th Annual International Peeps Art Exhibition at the Racine Art Museum, 441 Main St., Racine, Friday.
Rachel Kubik

Norma Caltagirone

Norma Caltagirone, visiting from Florida, smiles at the 14th Annual International Peeps Art Exhibition at the Racine Art Museum, 441 Main St., Racine, Friday. She said the Peeps headband is from her daughter, who lives in Wilmette, Illinois. The family drove across the border to see the exhibit.
Rachel Kubik

Frederick Longoria and Lindy and Mark Pawlak

Frederick Longoria of Racine looks on at the 14th Annual International Peeps Art Exhibition at the Racine Art Museum, 441 Main St., Racine, on Friday, as his grandparents Lindy and Mark Pawlak of Oak Creek stand behind him.
Rachel Kubik

A 360° view of the Racine Art Museum's 2023 Peeps Art Exhibition

